COURSE DESCRIPTION
This class provides an emphasis on developing a detailed understanding and a foundation of skills of Dialectical Behavioral Therapy (DBT) when working with mental health and substance abuse clients. DBT is an empirically validated approach for working with addictions, dual diagnosis and mental health clients. It is designed to assist clients in establishing emotional regulation, interpersonal effectiveness, distress tolerance and mindfulness skills. DBT assists clinicians in working with challenging clients with suicidal issues, self-harm potential and dramatic interpersonal styles. DBT is a therapeutic approach that is compatible with many therapeutic modalities such as CBT, Client Centered and Strength based approaches. This course will explore the theoretical basis for this approach, practice of specific DBT interventions and how to work with challenging clients.

COURSE TEXT
Required Text: Koerner, K. (2012). Doing dialectical behavior therapy: A practical guide . New York: The Guilford Press.
Recommended Text: Linehan, M. M. (2014). DBT Skills Training Handouts and Worksheets (2nd Edition) . New York: The Guilford Press.

OBJECTIVES
The participant will: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Demonstrate a basic understanding of DBT's biopsychosocial model and dialectical underpinnings.2. Increase clinical skill in behavior therapy theory and interventions3. Determine clinically appropriate treatment interventions based on DBT strategies, stages, and targets.4. Gain experiential knowledge and practice of DBT skills in the areas of mindfulness, emotion regulation, distress tolerance, and interpersonal effectiveness

CPSY DEPARTMENT ATTENDANCE POLICY

Class attendance is expected and required. Any missed class time will be made up by completing extra assignments designed by the instructor. Missing more than ten percent of class time (i.e., 1.5 hours for a 15 hour class; 1 credit) may result in failure to complete the class. In case of extreme hardship and also at the discretion of the instructor, a grade of incomplete may be given for an assignment or the entire course. In such cases, the work to be submitted in order to remove the incomplete must be documented appropriately and stated deadlines met. Students are expected to be on time to class and tardiness may be seen as an absence that requires make-up work.

DISABILITY SERVICES STATEMENT

If you have a disability that may impact your academic performance, you may request accommodations by submitting documentation to the Student Support Services Office in the Albany Quadrangle (503-768-7192). After you have submitted documentation and filled out paperwork there for the current semester requesting accommodations, staff in that office will notify me of the accommodations for which you are eligible.

EVALUATION

Classroom Discussion and Participation (30 points)

This course is heavily participatory and requires students to engage in both dyadic and experiential training methods. Students are expected to attend class in order to participate in exploring the topics in class. It is also expected that students have done the assigned readings prior to that class meeting. Classroom discussions are an opportunity to bring up questions about the assigned readings, deepen one's understanding of the issues under study, and integrate course material with one's own personal and professional experience.

DBT From the Inside Out Paper (70 points)

An important intervention in DBT is self-monitoring between counseling sessions. Students will engage in self-monitoring practices throughout the course in order to experience the challenges and rewards of tracking certain behaviors and experiences. Additionally, students will be encouraged to practice certain DBT skills on their own in order to get a first-hand experience of the strengths, challenges, and limitations of skills. They will be encouraged to reflect on their own experience of change the dialectical processes that involves. Through the five week course students will keep a journal of their self-monitoring, reflections, and skill practice. At the end of the course, students will submit a 5-8 page paper that consolidates their experiences and learning in the course thinking about the principles and applications of DBT to clients. They will use their journal as a guide of what it felt like and what experiences they had engaging in DBT skills and applying this treatment philosophy.
